

G. O. P. PLANS FOR EXCLUSION OF INSURGENTS

Senate Republican Leaders Prepare To Challenge Boy Progressives' Right To Seats in Next Session

PLAN TO ENFORCE PARTY DISCIPLINE

Watson Laying Plans To Open Political Battle With Bob La Follette, Jr., and Dakota Solon.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, November 24.—(AP)—Regular republican leaders in the senate have begun preparations for the first important political battle in the new congress, the attempt to exclude from the majority group the two boy progressives, Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Gerald Nye, of North Dakota.

Republican leaders announced Tuesday that when Nye goes to the vice president's desk to be sworn when congress convenes December 7, his right to the seat of the late Senator Ladd will be challenged and that the case will then go automatically to the committee on privileges and elections for inquiry. They believe that Governor La Follette acted without authority in appointing Nye, holding that the South Dakota legislature never has conferred that right.

Question La Follette Stand.
Senator Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on committees, announced that his committee will meet in a week to decide whether the son of the late Wisconsin insurgent is entitled to a place in the regular organization in his committee assignments. Watson is collecting young La Follette's campaign speeches and these will be studied to determine whether he has criticized President Coolidge and the regular republican policies.

This is a continuation of the attempt to make the republican senate organization 100 per cent pure, which was begun last winter when four insurgents, Francis and Ladd, of North Dakota; La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Smith Brookhart, of Iowa, were deprived of republican status. That move was hotly opposed by the whole progressive-republican group. Senator Borah and also Senator Curtis, of Kansas, regular republican leader. But they were overruled by a group of young fascists, including Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Edge, of New Jersey, who thrust aside their more hesitant elders.

Party Discipline.
The present effort to exclude dissenters has gained administration prestige because of the recent declaration of Senator John M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the republican national committee, who not only opposed La Follette's election with every resource at his command but a few days ago announced that party discipline must be enforced and that those who disapprove of the party policies must get out.

When the issue was up last winter, the republican leaders adopted a simple test of simon-pure republicanism by asking just one question: Did the senator oppose the election of President Coolidge? As the president is not running this year, the test is being modified to: Did the senator criticize the president and the republican party?

Complicated Test.
This test opens up a good many complications which were not present before. Few republican senators had not voted against their party on some issues. Progressives will demand to know just how many times a senator is allowed to oppose his party.

MINORITY PLANS TO PRESENT VIEWS ON NEW TAX BILL

Democratic Members of Committee Will Offer Their Opinions When Measure Goes to House.

MEMBERS TO ASK CHANGES IN BILL

Representative Hull Points Out Fundamental Differences of Parties on Economy and Taxes.

Washington, November 24.—(AP)—Minority views on the non-partisan tax bill unanimously ordered reported by the house ways and means committee will be presented to the house. It was announced today by Representative Hull, Tennessee, and Rainey, Illinois, democratic members of the committee.

Differing opinions in some of the provisions of the measure were set forth today in statements issued by Representative Mills, republican, New York; Garner, Texas, ranking democrat on the committee and Mr. Hull, All, however, praised the general provisions of the bill and the non-partisan spirit in which it was worked out, conceding compromises were necessary.

Several members have indicated they would seek some changes in the measure when it is considered by the house. Mr. Garner said he thought the total reduction provided by the measure could have been $400,000,000 instead of $338,000,000. He favored complete elimination of the automobile passenger car tax, which was reduced from five to three per cent and repeal of the admission taxes on motion pictures and baseball.

Mr. Mills regretted that the measure did not provide for repeal of the inheritance tax instead of a reduction, but endorsed elimination of the provision for publicity of income tax returns.

Mr. Hull opposed the $1,000 additional exemption for married persons and advocated that the maximum inheritance tax be cut only to 25 per cent instead of the 20 per cent as provided by the bill. If this were done, he said, the "tax and maintenance taxes" could be wiped out and greater relief given to persons with incomes between $25,000 and $50,000.

Hull's Statement.
The statement of Representative Hull of Tennessee in part follows: "The tax reduction measure unanimously ordered to be reported to house ways and means committee is a wise and splendid bill, with certain important exceptions, and the harmonious and constructive manner of its preparation is proof that internal taxes are essentially non-political, assuming that all persons favor graduated income and estate taxation."

The new bill further illustrates what the ways and means committee

CHILD IS EXPECTED AT HOME OF HEIR TO JAPAN'S CROWN

London, November 24.—(AP)—A child is expected to be born to the crown prince of Japan within a few hours, according to a dispatch from Tokyo. The entire nation hopes the baby will be a boy, and is preparing to celebrate.

President's Father Is Better, JOKES WITH FRIENDS; POSES FOR PICTURES Visits Celebrated Woodpile

Plymouth, November 24.—(AP)—Today saw Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the president, up and out after fighting a dangerous attack of heart disease for more than a week. Showing plainly the effects of his illness, but nevertheless exhibiting a determination to carry on the aged colonel not only joked with newspaper men but insisted on visiting his celebrated woodpile.

It was a different man than the one they had seen last summer, the correspondents agreed, but they and his physicians marveled that he had come through so well. Something of the same ability to recoup that had surprised his advisers after his operation in June was apparent today and Major James F. Coupal, the president's physician and Dr. Albert M. Cram were plainly delighted at the change.

Dr. Coupal came here several days ago at the express desire of President Coolidge to discuss with the colonel the possibility that he might spend the winter in Washington. What progress Dr. Coupal made was not apparent today. When he was driven to Ludlow to start the trip back to

RIGHT TO NAME PREMIER ASKED BY SOCIALISTS

Half of Portfolios in New French Government Demanded—Seek To Dictate Financial Policies.

DOUMER IS TRYING TO FORM CABINET

Takes Up Task After M. Briand Refuses—M. Painleve Declines Offer of Place in Ministry.

Paris, November 24.—(AP)—The socialist demands for half the portfolios in the new government, the right to name the new premier and dictate the financial policy blocked the cabinet making negotiations today and spoiled the efforts of M. Briand to form a ministry likely to enlarge the government majority in the chamber.

M. Briand finally declined to accept the task of attempting to form a cabinet, and suggested Senator Paul Doumer, former finance minister, who consulted with President Doumergue and requested 24 hours in which to give his final answer.

Leon Blum, socialist leader, and Paul Bonecour, refused to accept posts under M. Briand, while the entire socialist group in caucus decided that they must be allowed to name at least half the new ministers from among their number and adopted a resolution that they could support the government only on condition that it adopted the socialist program for a cabinet.

M. Painleve Refuses.
M. Briand offered portfolios to M. Painleve and M. Herriot, as well as to the socialist leaders. M. Painleve declined, and M. Herriot made his acceptance conditional upon the participation of the socialists. In the presence of a seemingly well-laid plan to maneuver him into a corner, M. Briand informed President Doumergue that Senator Doumer seemed to be the most likely man to set up a new combination that could rally a safe majority in the chamber.

M. Doumer agreed to see what he could do, promising a definite reply within 24 hours, and he started on his task at once by obtaining M. Briand's assurance that he would stand by him as foreign minister.

The senator apparently is so sure of success that he went to work this evening on financial projects he proposes to introduce in the chamber immediately if he becomes premier, leaving further consultations until tomorrow.

COOLIDGE BEGINS DRAFTING MESSAGE

President Shuns All Except Pressing Business In Preparation for Congress Opening.

Washington, November 24.—(AP)—With less than two weeks remaining before congress convenes, President Coolidge today began the actual preparation of his annual message to the exclusion of all but pressing official business.

A wide range of subjects will be discussed in the message, among them being development of inland waterways, which the president has emphasized on several occasions.

The message also will include comprehensive recommendations on the merchant marine problem, although no definite indication has been given as to how far he will go in his suggestions. For his guidance he has the recommendations of H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland, who surveyed the situation at his request and recommended, among other things, divestment of the shipping board and emergency fleet corporation.

17 Other Atlantas In the United States.

There are 17 other towns and municipalities in this country bearing the name of Atlanta—practically all of them in northern and western states.

Dr. Sam Small in his "Story of Atlanta" tells for the first time how these towns were given their names by returning Federal soldiers who had witnessed the burning of Atlanta by Sherman's army, but who had nevertheless been sufficiently impressed with the beauty of the town and the unusual characteristics of its inhabitants, that when the war was over they were led to either establish new towns and name them after the city they helped to destroy, or else change the name of their old home towns to that of a southern city which had so impressed them.

Told in Dr. Small's gripping style, this incident in Atlanta's history is one of the most gripping parts of his "My Story of Atlanta," which starts in The Constitution next Monday.

2 COUNTIES VOTE $850,000 FUND TO PAVE ROADS

Jefferson and Burke Plan To Spend $3,400,000 on Projects for Hard-Surfaced Stretches.

PLANS ARE LAID TO PUSH DRIVE

Fifteen Counties in All Parts of State Join in Authorizing Paving Programs; Vote New School

Georgia with a net work of paved roads connecting every important city in the state with other large and progressive centers was seen Tuesday night when two other Georgia counties—Jefferson and Burke—voted a total of $850,000 for new highways. Jefferson authorized the issuance of $250,000 and Burke $600,000. The Waynesboro district in Burke also voted $75,000 for a new school building.

If the $850,000 authorized Tuesday is matched with state and federal funds on a 25-75 per cent basis, projects totaling for the expenditure of $3,400,000 will be completed. On the same basis other bond issues in the state recently called for an outlay of about $22,000,000.

Good road advocates throughout the state are jubilant over the interest manifested in the highway building program and the impetus given it recently by the voting of $2,250,000 for state highways and plans to push the good roads movement are being laid. Recent bond issues have been authorized by 15 counties of the state.

When the work now authorized and planned is completed the state will be a veritable net work of permanently paved roads, facilitating travel and will be of untold value in attracting tourists to Georgia, it is said.

FIVE ARE INJURED IN AUTO CRASHES

One Driver Charged With Recklessness and Another With Drunkenness at Wheel.

Five motor vehicle accidents Tuesday, one involving Motorcycle Officer G. W. Richardson, resulted in grave injuries to the policeman, less serious injuries to W. M. Wiley, of 204 Courtland street, and Oscar C. Lewis, of 58 Adair avenue, and the arrest of Wiley and W. C. Morrill, of East Point. Morrill was charged with reckless driving and Wiley with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Officer Richardson was pursuing a speeding automobile west on Fair street and his machine ran into Morrill's automobile as the latter made a short left turn into Park avenue. Richardson was thrown heavily to the ground, receiving a deep laceration in his left leg and severe bruises about the head. In addition, he may have suffered internal injuries, according

Youth Smiles as Physician Amputates Mangled Arm

ASKS NURSE TO KEEP NEWS FROM MOTHER, THEN FAINTS

New York, November 24.—(UN)—One more thought than any other was precious to 15-year-old Joseph Macaluso.

It made things easier for him in the crowded sweat of the steerage a short time ago when they told him he was coming to a land of opportunity. It choked back the tears when the enforced end of his school days began to shore the land of opportunity into the land of disillusionments. Always it kept the smile on his lips in the printing shop in which he worked as a "feeder" for the press. And it did not fail him Monday night. His right arm caught in the press at which he was working. The machinery held it there, crushed and mangled. The fire department rescue squad, police and fellow employees labored unsuccessfully to extricate him.

Joe kept on smiling even until after a physician had amputated the injured arm without an anesthetic. "Don't tell my mother," he finally said, "always from her I must keep hurt. She is so good to me."

In the hospital where they took him the 15-year-old boy insisted that the nurse keep the covers over his arm so that his mother would not know the extent of his injury. They assured him they would—and he fainted.

TEXAS GRAND JURY COMPLETES PROBE OF STATE AFFAIRS

Deposed Highway Commissioner Holds Conference With 'Ma' Ferguson After Testifying.

Austin, Texas, November 24.—(AP)—Interest in official circles here was centered tonight in the prospect of a report tomorrow of the Travis county grand jury which has been investigating state affairs for two months, and before which Frank V. Latham, deposed chairman of the highway commission, appeared for four hours today.

Latham conferred with Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and former Governor James A. Ferguson, following his session with the grand jury. Apparently the meeting with the governor was peaceful. Latham refused to make any statement, but appeared pleased that he had been freed of his official responsibility.

"Now I can go to work," he said. Request Special Session.

Thus closed the second of two of the most hectic days in the administration of the woman executive in which members of the legislature asked her to call a special session; she demanded and received the resignations of Latham and Joe Burket, member of the highway commission; legislators presented an ultimatum calling for a special session by December 10, and Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the house, announced that he would call a special session December 15, unless the governor did.

Burket also called on the governor today. He has not been subpoenaed to appear before the Travis county grand jury. He said no statement was necessary as to his resignation.

The Travis county grand jury must report before Saturday night or the report will not be legal, as the fall term of court expires then. It was indicated at the court house that a report will be forthcoming Wednesday.

Pethsch Refused Audience. Governor Ferguson Did Not Accept Petition of the Legislators for a Special Session From Representative Alfred Pethsch, of Fredericksburg, but through her secretary, Ghent Sander- ford, Pethsch said he offered to ex- amine the petition, but the governor declined to admit him an audience.

Satterwhite will remain here until Friday, watching developments. There is much conjecture as to the attitude of the Ferguson on the special session. Several weeks ago the governor

Tinney and Divorced Wife EX-SPOUSE WILL KEEP EYE ON COMEDIAN To Retain 'Stage' Partnership

New York, N. Y., November 24.—A man under the restrictions of being married and deprived of conjugal advantages, yet perhaps assumes the responsibility of a husband, is Frank Tinney, the comedian, who is to remain under the eye of Mrs. Tinney and travel in her company, although not as her husband.

The mere affixing of the judge's signature remains to make Frank's separation from the former Edna Davenport legal. But in spite of the cleavage to be wrought by the law, he went home Tuesday meek and acquiescent to agree to the provisions Mrs. Tinney has made for his future. Frank is still her partner, said Mrs. Tinney, and both will return to the vaudeville stage and make the theater circuits with the same groups.

Frank has agreed to go on the water wagon permanently, as a stipulation in the agreement he has made with her. Mrs. Tinney declared. Gone from the stage of their affairs is

LAGUARDIA OPENS FIRE ON JUDGES IN MITCHELL CASE

Doughty Colonel Assumes Old Air of Nonchalance in His Answers to Cross-Examination.

ATTACKS FILM ISSUED BY NAVY

Prosecution Scores Many Times Through Adroit Questioning, But Fails To Shake Defendant.

Washington, November 24.—The Mitchell court-martial ran the scale of sensations Tuesday. It reached the real high lights in the long-drawn-out military trial of the air officer.

Colonel William Mitchell, around whom revolves the entire aviation controversy, finished his grilling appearance in his own behalf. He left the stand after 12 hours of most exacting cross-examination, but not until he fired parting shots at the war and navy departments, reiterating his charge that their management of the air service is "almost treasonable."

The court, comprising nine of the highest ranking generals in the army, heard itself characterized by Representative Laguardia, of New York, as "Bebibed dog robbers to the general staff," and demanding a retraction, succeeded in having eliminated only the word re-bibed.

Mitchell, through members of congress, offered corroborative evidence that officers of the army and navy are "bullheaded and bluffed" into not telling the truth before congressional committees.

He succeeded in getting into the court-martial record testimony that the navy's film, "The Eyes of the Fleet," was designed "to combat the effect of Mitchell's testimony and belittle aviation in war."

Mitchell, recovering his usual demeanor of nonchalance, left behind him the sullenness of Monday. He appeared buoyant and defiant, the hard-hitting air officer whose denunciations brought down upon his head the wrath of the army and navy departments.

Rapid-fire searching questions were hurled at him. Just as rapid were the answers he flung back as the prosecution put him through the paces of a stirring cross-examination. The prosecution made him admit he is not a military expert in their attempt to break down his charges involving the Shenandoah.

They trapped him into admitting that in 1923 he cautioned a house committee against "disgruntled persons who would disorganize the army and navy," only to have him say:

"Yes, I made that statement. I was a member of the general staff then and I never made a worse statement."

Again they elicited that Mitchell, who had charged the army and navy with maintaining propaganda agencies, had himself many times given out information about the air service when

FIREMEN'S SALARY RAISE ANALYZED

Analysis of salary increases proposed in the firemen's initiative petition, to be decided by qualified voters at the polls one week from today, compiled Tuesday by city hall observers, showed that a regular fireman, a private, who has seen more than three years' active service will receive a 25 per cent salary raise, while those with rank above a private will receive increases approaching the same mark.

First year privates will receive 13 per cent increase, second year men, 15 per cent increase; third year men, 17 per cent.

As the petition was construed by observers, the referendum, if approved by a majority of those participating in the election, will mean the following salaries: First year privates, $141.75; second year, $160; third year, $158.33; and fourth year men and those in service more than that period, $175 a month.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE OPENED ON DECEMBER 18

Formal opening of the new Fulton county high school at Woodward avenue and Washington street will be held December 18. Superintendent of County Schools Jere A. Wells announced Tuesday. The building will be open for the inspection of the pupils from 10 until 11 o'clock in the morning.

Included in the program will be addresses by a number of prominent state and county officials. The program will be in charge of W. F. Dykes, superintendent of the school. The formal opening of the R. L. Hope school, on Piedmont road, will be held next Friday night. The new building is thoroughly modern and will be used as a grammar school. Mrs. Howell Dodd, president of the Fulton County Teachers' association, will have charge of the program.

Luckie Street Line Rerouting To Clear Tracks From Spring

Through a rerouting plan for the Luckie street line announced by the Georgia Railway and Power company, the last traffic of street cars on Spring street will be eliminated when the change goes into effect Wednesday morning. The only street car track remaining on Spring street extends from Luckie to Walton and has been used by the Luckie street cars. This stretch of track will be removed, as well as two blocks of track running from Spring street to Forsyth street on Luckie street.

Under the new system, Luckie street cars will be operated through the downtown business section on Forsyth street, instead of on Broad street as in the past. People who attend the football game Friday must catch cars on Forsyth street instead of on Broad street as heretofore.

The new route follows: From city waterworks via Hemphill, Plum, Hunnicutt, Luckie, Cain, Carnegie Way, Forsyth, Hunter, Washington, Trinity, Fair, Kelly, Glenwood, Grant and Augusta to Cherokee, returning over Cherokee, Georgia, Grant, Glenwood, Kelly, Fair, Trinity, Washington, Hunter, Forsyth, Carnegie Way, Cain, Luckie and Hemphill to the waterworks.

RAISIN BREAD

Bread that is sure-enough raisin bread—that's the kind you get from Rogers' on Wednesday. Our bakery doesn't scatter a handful of raisins in a big batch of dough and expect the bread to satisfy healthy appetites demanding their full share of iron. Instead, we are generous with the Sun-Maids that are used in our bread. Actual count has shown that Rogers' Raisin Bread

Averages 25 Whole Raisins to the Slice

The nutrition that this bread brings to you and to children cannot be denied. It is one of the most delicious health-giving foods that can be bought.

The children will eat plenty of raisin bread; they'll want a lot of it too, because it's good to eat. Not a crumb will be wasted, they like it so well.

Atlanta Miss in "My Girl"

Is Most Refreshing Type

BY RALPH T. JONES.

At the Atlanta theater this week, playing one of the leading roles in that delightful musical comedy, "My Girl," is Miss Vera Thomas, Atlanta girl.

Insofar as this company is concerned, Miss Thomas is "My Girl" to the entire city.

She was born and reared in this city and there are scores of boys and girls who were in the same classes with her in grammar and high schools, who today are busy remarking, "I knew her when—"

On Monday night, between acts, the writer, who never "knew her when," but who had ambitions to know her now, went back of the stage and talked with her. And she turned out to be a creature of tremendous contradictions. Maybe some of you older residents, you "knew her when—," will check up on this impression.

and let me know whether or not you agree.

For instance—She was playing the role of a very sophisticated young society girl. The girl who "is well acquainted with him and knows where the flask hideth," you know. And the part seemed to fit her perfectly. She spoke her lines as though simplicity was a thing farthest from her character.

Yet, a few minutes later, backstage, she was talking about baking biscuits and telling what a delight it was, while the show was playing in Atlanta, to put on a calico apron and preside over her mother's kitchen, out on Lee street.

"I love to cook," she said—and looked truthful as she said it. "But I don't like to wash up the dishes afterwards," she admitted. Then she branched off into a few remarks regarding the passage of time.

recalling how she has a married sister and how Atlanta changes every time she visits here.

"I haven't been here for two years," she said. "The last time was with 'The Gingham Girl.' Then it was three or four years before that when I was here before, in vaudeville. It's a great old town, isn't it, and my, how it grows."

"I'd like to play here all the time," she said wistfully, "but then my business won't allow it, you see. I want to come back again soon, however, and play in that splendid new theater that is to be built for you good folks out on Peachtree street."

She is a good looking girl, both on and off stage.

But what's the good of telling that to you "knew her wheners."

Addresses Feature Meet of East Point Commerce Chamber

East Point, Ga., November 24.—(Special.)—Short addresses by C. H. Lister, mayor; B. B. Baker, prominent business man; P. H. Orr, councilman of East Point, and Councilman Willard See, of College Park, tonight featured a meeting of the East Point Chamber of Commerce. They discussed the upbuilding of this section of Fulton county.

The meeting was held at the city hall and Colonel J. E. Hughes, president presided. An encouraging report of the membership committee was made.

RELIEF NECESSARY SAYS ARKWRIGHT

day, or on occasions. About 60 per cent of our travel is handled during the morning and afternoon rush hours. A vast majority of the population, approximately 150,000 people in about five hours. This same condition prevails in every city that I ever heard of, and it is practically impossible to provide seats under these conditions.

"In addition, due to the great congestion of traffic on the streets, it is impossible to maintain regularity of intervals between cars. This is bound to cause over-crowding, although sufficient cars may be scheduled to comfortably handle the traffic."

"We don't, of course, contend that the service is perfect, but we do say that it has been very considerably improved, and that if we are permitted to work out the street railway problem along the lines set forth in our petition for relief filed with the city council in December, 1923, and still awaiting action, the service will be considerably further improved and be second to none in this country. Indeed, a great many citizens of Atlanta who have traveled in other cities report to us now that the street railway service in Atlanta is superior to any city they have observed. It has certainly been improved, besides, which we have, during this year, received and ordered over a million dollars' worth of rolling stock equipment, consisting of 20 new street cars already received, 40 new street cars to be delivered at an early date, and 15 modern double-deck busses in process of delivery. We should go further. We would like to retire all the single-truck cars and substitute for them new modern double-truck passenger cars. There are other improvements greatly needed in the street railway property."

"The street railroad, however, as you know, is not in financial position to make these improvements. Proper adequate city transportation is fundamental to the comfort and convenience of the citizens and the growth and the prosperity of this territory. But no transportation agency can furnish this service in the quantity and quality needed unless the service is permitted to earn a reasonable interest rate.

"In December, 1923, we filed a petition to the mayor and general council setting forth the condition of the street railroad and asking the cooperation of the city in granting the relief needed to place the street railroad on a basis where it could sustain itself and obtain the capital needed for necessary improvements. This petition was favorably investigated by the mayor and general council, the records and books of account audited by auditors appointed by the city, and an exhaustive report and recommendations for the improvement of the transportation conditions were made by engineers selected by the city council. A portion of the relief suggested has been granted, but the major portion of the relief has as yet been unacted on.

"In the meantime the earnings of the street railway have gone from bad to worse, each year showing a decrease in net earnings as compared with the preceding year. In the year 1924 the earnings, after deducting only mere operating expenses and taxes, were $540,000 less than similar earnings were for the year 1919. The earnings in the year 1924, applicable to return on investment, amounted to less than 2 per cent of the value of the street railroad property."

"Can't Continue Losing. "Regulating the jitneys, resulting in their discontinuance, has been helpful to the street railway, of course, but has not resulted, nor was it expected to result, in placing the street railway on a self-sustaining basis at the present rate of fare and under the other adverse conditions affecting it. The street railroad is not the only one benefited by the disappearance of jitneys. It has been of advantage to the entire city."

"The street railroad cannot continue to go on constantly failing to earn the cost of the service. The people have a right to expect service and their transportation agency should be placed in a position where it can provide it. In order that it may be placed in this position, at least the following relief should be granted:

"1. Elimination of unnecessary stopping places.
"2. The discontinuance of at least one of the unnecessary closely paralleling duplicate street railway lines.
"3. Relief from the gross receipt tax which is imposed on it in addition to all other taxes.
"4. Relief from street paving charges.

"5. A cash fare of 10 cents, with 4 tickets for 25 cents, provided relief from gross receipt tax and paving charges is granted. Or, in the event these two items of relief are not granted, then a cash fare of 10 cents with three tickets for 25 cents.

"Condition Serious. "The condition of the street railroad is serious and has been presented to the city over and over again during the past few years. In the meantime we have gone ahead maintaining and improving the service at the expense of other departments of the company in the faith that adequate relief would be granted. We have, however, exhausted the company's resources capable of being devoted to this purpose, and we cannot do any more.

"Unless the street railroad is placed on a self-sustaining basis it will be impossible for it to make further improvements and expansions in its facilities, but, worse than this, it will be unable to continue the service it is now furnishing.

"We urgently request that action be taken without further delay on its petition for relief. There is no matter pending more vitally important to the people of this community than the solution of its transportation problem."

"P. S. ARKWRIGHT, "President."

the deputies in M. Doumer's ability to solve the situation. The socialists declared they would have none of him at any price. The radicals are divided; a considerable number are hostile because M. Doumer is not regarded as a man of the radical-socialist coalition. The uncompromising attitude of these two groups is said by the deputies of the other parties to indicate a determination to force President Doumergue to call on M. Herriot to form a radical-socialist cabinet.

It is thought that M. Doumer will endeavor so to choose his official family so as to divide the radical party and shift the majority toward the center, and thus disregard the socialists entirely.

PLAN OF DOUMER TO FINANCE FRANCE.

Paris, November 24.—(AP)—The plan which Senator Doumer has prepared to meet the financial situation if he accepts the post of premier, is based on an increase in existing taxation which he contends would furnish sufficient additional funds not only to balance the budget but meet the requirements of the treasury and reduce the national debt fairly rapidly.

He intends, above all to have recourse only to simple measures capable of yielding immediate results and susceptible to ratification by parliament without giving rise to a long academic discussion.

M. Doumer rules out not only any capital levy but also forced consolidation of part of the short term debt and taxation of government rents. He estimates that the increases in the business turnover tax will yield at least an additional four billion francs yearly. The first year's yield will be applied to reduction of the fiduciary circulation, which would have to be increased to meet the maturity on December 8.

A strictly balanced budget naturally is an essential of M. Doumer's plan.

Over The Horizon

Has there ever been a generation in which youth has been so capable, and so independent?

The Davison-Paxon-Stokes Co. believes in the promotion to important positions of the young people in our organization, just as it has been the policy of R. H. Macy & Company, Inc., with whom we are affiliated, to do so.

A few weeks ago, one of our youthful department managers, in riding down Broadway, in New York, on her first buying trip, exclaimed, "I never knew there were so many lights and tall buildings in the world!"

We hope that the erection of the magnificent building at the corner of Peachtree and Ellis streets, to house this store, will be the beginning of a rejuvenation of Atlanta's famous old Peachtree street into a veritable Broadway of the Metropolis of the south.

West Melbourne Florida

Sounds risky, but were not all the undeveloped projects which have made huge profits for men of your acquaintance, surrounded with the element of chance?

To be sure, not every subdivision has made fortunes for those who got in on the ground-floor, but it IS true that a great majority of fortunes which so far have been made, were picked up in just such ventures as this.

Nothing Risked, Nothing Gained

West Melbourne is a suburb of Melbourne, Florida, situated exactly mid-distance between Jacksonville and Miami, on the east coast, and quite near the famous Indian River.

This property (1040 acres) has been subdivided into business lots, residence lots and one-acre farm tracts which are now offered in group combination, one each, for the tawdry sum of $1250, . . . payable $50 down and $25 monthly, without interest or taxes until paid for.

Mind you, this is the pre-development price, . . . offered the public before a spade has been stuck in the ground, but that price will be advanced before very long, you may be sure.

Any man who can afford to take from his surplus or earnings the small amount of $25 monthly, certainly has more than a gambler's chance of making his "pile."

Call it what you will, . . . gamble, or just plain luck, . . . here is an opportunity to stake a little, and lose, or make much.

Literature explaining all about this property will be mailed on request.

THE SOUTHERN SERVES THE SOUTH

Who will provide the new capital?

The ability of any business to obtain new capital depends upon its credit.

Do its stocks and bonds offer safe investment?
Is the property conservatively capitalized?
Has it maintained a steady earning power?
Is its business likely to expand?

Has the management a proper appreciation of its threefold responsibility:

- [1] to give good service to customers
- [2] to deal fairly with employees
- [3] to safeguard the capital investment of the owners?

The management of the Southern cordially invites an examination of the System's record measured by these standards.

It invites this knowledge of its strong financial standing, particularly among the people of the South—its customers and its employees—because their cooperation has done much to make the Southern what it is today, a transportation organization in which the whole South has a right to take pride.

Greater participation in Southern Railway financing in the future by its own customers and employees will make the Southern still more an institution of the South.

Morgan, general manager The Sentinel, Knoxville, Tenn.; C. P. Manship, The Star-Times, and also The Advocate, Baton Rouge, La.; Charles A. Webb, The Citizen, Asheville, N. C.; J. P. McCall, superintendent southern division Associated Press, Atlanta; Morton M. Milford, The Daily News, Miami, Fla.; W. F. Caldwell, news editor, southern division, Associated Press, Atlanta; Major Powell Glass, The Advance, Lynchburg, Va.

Matters of interest to the Associated Press were considered here Tuesday by the advisory board of the southern division in annual session.

J. N. Haskell, publisher of the Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock, Ark., was elected chairman unanimously. He was authorized through a resolution introduced by Frederick Sullens, of the Jackson, Miss. News, to take the suggestions of the members of the board of directors in New York.

Reports were received from each of the 11 states comprising the division. Suggestions were presented looking to the continued growth and expansion of the service.

On motion of J. E. Chappell, of The Birmingham News, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"Resolved, that the advisory board of the Associated Press, southern division, go on record as heartily approving and endorsing the progressive policies adopted by the general manager, Kent Cooper, during the early months of his administration, and as expressing its sincere appreciation of his earnest efforts, directed toward eliminating petty friction, inducing greater harmony among the members and particularly in creating greater efficiency in the service."

General satisfaction was expressed with the human interest stories that have been handled and suggestions made that they be increased.

Clark Howell, publisher of The Atlanta Constitution and a director of the Associated Press, entertained the members at luncheon.

The board also adopted a resolution commending the administration of Mr. U. L. McCall, superintendent of the southern division.

UTILITIES CONCERNS SHOW TAX INCREASE

An increase of $15,728,569 in the assessed valuation of public service properties in Georgia was shown Tuesday in the tax values reported this year to the office of Comptroller General William A. Wright.

Total assessed values of these properties for this year are $186,401,785. In 1924 they were $170,733,216. The increase over a period of ten years is $35,164,205. The total assessed values in 1915 having been $151,327,580.

The revenue received from these properties this year, at a rate of 5 mills on the dollar, will be $932,458.02.

The Comptroller General Wright pointed out that this amount is net to the state, these taxes being collected directly by his office, instead of through the tax collectors of the various counties, and no commission being paid for the collection.

Under the system followed, each public service corporation sends in its own assessment. General Wright examines this and either accepts it, or increases it. If the corporation disagrees with his figures it has the privilege of contest in the courts.

This assessment covers every class of public service corporation in the state, including railroads, street railway systems, power corporations, electric and light concerns, gas companies, telephone and telegraph companies.

Boys' High Dramatic Club Members Offer "A Pair of Sixes"

"A Pair of Sixes," said to be one of the most brilliant comedies of American business life ever written for the stage, will be presented by the Boys' High School Dramatic Club at the Woman's club auditorium on Wednesday night. The performance will begin at 8 o'clock.

This is the first presentation by the club this season and under the direction of M. H. Davis, and with some of the best local high school talent in the leading roles, an able production is assured.

The Boys' High Dramatic Club last year won the cup offered by the Little Theatre Guild for the best amateur dramatic presentation in the city, and has become well-known by its brilliant performances of the past few years.

POSTPONE DECISION ON SHERIFF'S FORCE

Decision of the county commissioners on the cutting of salaries in Sheriff J. I. Lowry's office or issuing an order to cut expenses by dismissing part of the office personnel was postponed Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the commissioners due to the absence of Commissioner Paul S. Etheridge. The date set for the next meeting is next Friday at 2:30 o'clock.

The commissioners authorized the paving of four short streets in Riverside. They are Forrest and Claude streets and Burr and Payton avenues. Grades for the streets have been fixed and everything is in readiness for the paving to begin, it was announced.

FRIGID WEATHER LEAVES WARMER TODAY, THURSDAY

The brief brush between north and south staged in our frigid midst the last three days is over. The cold is gone for a time. The word of C. F. von Herrmann, weather boss at the local station, was passed for an expected change in temperature in his forecast for today. The weather, he averred—selecting a time-honored phrase to voice, his prediction—will be fair and warmer. The thermometer probably will not go below freezing this morning, said Mr. von Herrmann, and it probably will register as high as 60. A fine, clear day also is promised for Thanksgiving and the annual Tech-Auburn football game.

If you were a little chilly Tuesday morning you were not having a chill. The lowest temperature of the present winter was registered. The thermometer reached 26 degrees, doing some damage to automobile radiators, and freezing outside water faucets. The high point of the day was 50.

STOLEN ARTICLES RECOVERED IN WOODS

Following the arrest of Alton Power, Floyd Power and Roger Nance, who, it is claimed, confessed to county police that they robbed Smith's store and garage at Sandy Springs, automobile accessories and other articles valued at more than $300 were recovered in various sections of woods in DeKalb and Fulton counties, it was said Tuesday.

The boys were arrested by Lieutenant John Oliver and County Police men Curtis Neal and Claude Webb and lodged in the Fulton county jail.

TOURISTS TO START FARM LAND BOOM. REPORTS INDICATE

Thomasville, Ga., November 24.—(Special).—The demand for Thomas county farm lands continues to grow and from inquiries coming in constantly the eyes of farmers here are turned to the north and west as being turned to south Georgia. Farm lands in this county have not yet taken on the high prices that prevail in some sections and as yet can be bought at reasonable rates, though the present demand is beginning to send them up higher. Many tourists passing through here are stopping to make inquiries in regard to prices and lands and reports of investments are coming in from various sections of the county.

GOVERNOR CONFERS ON EXTRA SESSION

While Governor Clifford Walker was still silent Tuesday regarding definite plans to call a special session of the legislature, he announced that he had asked Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, to meet him in conference on the subject expected that he will include in today.

Should the extraordinary session be called it has been expected that the question of enlarging the state's road building program would be included as one of the subjects for discussion by the lawmakers, and the governor and highway chairman will discuss today the advisability of this plan and a concrete program to be laid before the assembly should it meet.

At stated in The Constitution two weeks ago, it is generally believed among those close to the governor that he is going to call the extra session to meet early in January. It also means for improving the state educational system and a solution of the Confederate pension problem.

The legislature last summer passed a bill authorizing the payment of past due Confederate pensions by an issue of two-year scrip, but failed to provide means for the retirement of this scrip when it fell due.

Former Barrett, chairman of the appropriations committee of the house, was in conference with the governor Tuesday and it is understood the matter under discussion was the proposed extra session.

FRIENDS OF FULTON

MRS. CHARLEY MISSION

She misses Charley while he's on the road, but she knows that it won't be so much longer. An interest in the business is waiting for Charley—with a good desk job as manager of the Southern branch.

Out on the road a month or two at a time, Charley Mission had to figure a way of keeping the problem of family finances off his wife's shoulders.

His monthly commission checks come to the Fulton National, where they are credited to his wife's account, part to checking and a nice percentage each month to savings.

Mrs. Mission and Charley have been making some good sound investments from time to time, in which we have been able to help with our knowledge of what is desirable and what isn't.

So today they have a sound lot of certificates, put away in a Fulton safe-deposit box, producing a good income in addition to the monthly checks, and a reserve fund from which Charley is to buy an interest in the business he represents, and settle down to a bully desk job here in Atlanta.

Mrs. Charley says if it hadn't been for us they'd never have saved so much, but that isn't quite true. We merely made it easy—and they did the rest...

Which it is possible for anyone to do.

TECH'S LINEUP FOR AUBURN GAME IS UNCHANGED

Carpenter Will Be Used In Part of Last Game; Officials Are Announced

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

The lineup of the Golden Tornado for the finale of the 1925 season was announced definitely yesterday by Coach Alexander as the same "batting order" that he used through the major portion of the season that closes with the Auburn game Thursday.

It will be what has been called the first varsity throughout the year, with one exception, and the man who is filling Six Carpenter's shoes now at right tackle is rated as a member of that select eleven.

The lineup of Tech to start the Auburn game will be as follows:

The practice yesterday lasted well toward dark, and consisted of long signal drill, punting and attacks on the tackling dummies.

Alex Satisfied. After the practice Coach Alexander declared he was well satisfied with the condition of his men, with the exception of Sprick. That youngster is the only one unable to get into the Thanksgiving game. Wright is ready for action again, but with Wycoff playing his last game, he probably won't be called on for play unless Wycoff is hurt.

Ed Pinley, of Virginia, who has refereed the Tech-Auburn games for several years, will officiate as referee again this year. The umpire will be Moriarity, another old hand at officiating, while the head linesman will be Stegman of Chicago and the field judge Cheever of Georgia.

The Auburn team will arrive at noon today from the Plains and will hold a final workout about 2 o'clock this afternoon on Grant field. The Tech squad will follow the Tigers on the field at 4 o'clock and have a final signal drill and limbering up workout. It will be the last college football workout for Captain Wycoff, Forrester, Godwin, Carpenter, Merkle

PARTY TO VIEW GRID CLASSIC FROM AIR

New Haven, Conn., November 24.—(AP)—Philip W. Bunnell, Yale's quarterback, was unanimously elected captain of the Yale football team for 1926, this afternoon. Bunnell comes from Seranton, Pa., and prepared for Yale college at Mercersburg. He has played two years and is a junior.

Champion Brown holds a record of walking 100 miles in 14 hours and 34 minutes. He won the title in Peterboro, N.H., in 1909, beating the former record of 100 miles in 18 hours four minutes, held by W. A. Hoggland.

The champion's best time for one mile is 6 minutes 31 seconds.

Two Petrels Are Injured As 'Nooga Contest Looms

BY ALTON REDFEARN.

The Stormy Petrels, primed for another great football game, will entrain this afternoon at 4:10 o'clock for Chattanooga, where they will meet the University of Chattanooga in their annual Thanksgiving game.

Chattanooga has not played a game in three weeks and, according to reports from there, has been using all the spare time perfecting new plays. The Petrels are expecting to face an offensive somewhat similar to the Notre Dame offense, as Chattanooga's head coach halls from there, and, with all the time needed to put on the new plays, they should have a very deceptive offense.

Before the workout yesterday afternoon, Coach Robertson lectured to his charges. He told them of the scrappy team representing Chattanooga, and instilled in their minds the serious nature of the game tomorrow. He announced that if the game is won by the Petrels it will take more fight and ginger than displayed by the Stormy Birds yet.

A long workout was held yesterday afternoon, including signal drills, dummy tackling and scrimmage. The first part of the afternoon was spent chiefly in signal drill, with an occasional stop for a correction by Coach Robertson, or for a rest. Then a mixed team of first and second stringers were scrimmaged against the freshmen, who were using the Chattanooga plays. The Junior Petrels got away for a few nice gains but most of the time the plays were smeared for no gain. The varsity offense was working well, except for an occasional error which would cause the play to be stopped without a gain.

Injuries still hamper the Petrel squad. They are not yet in condition to use the best eleven men. Dewey Justus, varsity right tackle, is suffering from a bad hip and shoulder received in the Mercer game. Clay Carroll's sprained ankle is not well as yet. It is probable that neither Justus nor Carroll will start against the Chattanooga eleven. However, both are expected to get in the game after it is started.

A short workout will be held this afternoon prior to leaving for Chattanooga. It will consist of punting practice and a signal drill, and will last for about an hour's time.

Coach Robertson has not yet announced who will make the trip to Chattanooga, but all the faithful scrubs are expected to go with the team, as on this trip every year almost the entire squad is taken.

BET PECK WISHES HE WAS IN NATIONAL LOOP

President Heydler has announced that the National league will not make known its "most valuable" prize winner until the league's annual meeting in December. The winner annually gets $1,000. In some circles it is figured that Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has already been decided upon as the player to get the prize. Last year it was awarded to Dazzy Vance of the Robins.

GRID FAN DROPS DEAD AS STAR MAKES RUN

The excitement of the second quarter of the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game at South Bend was too much for the weak heart of Glenn M. Strich, 47, and he did not arise but fell as Flannigan made his 28-yard run towards the first touchdown. A doctor was called and the man was taken to a hospital, but he died on the way.

SULLIVAN STOPS EDDIE LEONARD

Hollis Sullivan, junior lightweight, who is making Marietta his home now, pushed over a set-up last night by scoring a knockout in the fourth round of a 10-round battle, the feature of a card staged by the Marietta Athletic club. It was a pushover principally because Eddie Leonard, of New York, the opponent for Sullivan, decided to make himself a set-up.

Sullivan outboxed Leonard in the first two rounds and then began putting in telling blows in the third. Leonard was holding badly, apparently not being of a mind to take more punishment than was necessary. A minute after the fourth round started, Leonard dropped to his knees and took a count of nine for rest. Thirty seconds later he let a fairly stiff right hook to the jaw be the occasion for another slump to the floor. He stayed down for the full count.

Leonard, had he elected to do battle, probably would have been a worthy foe for Sullivan, but as he elected to do the Charleston and all other late dance steps, to say nothing of bounding back into the ropes frequently, he was a push-over.

Two youngsters, Solomon Levy and Moses Levy, twins, battled for four furious rounds and pleased the small crowd. A battle royal started the show.

Auburn Students Hilarious As Practice Grind Ends

BY EMMETT SIZEMORE.

Auburn, Ala., November 24.—(Special).—As Paul Turner, hefty Tiger fullback, plunged into the open space over the center of the line in a spirited formation drill Tuesday, the 1925 football season, as far as practice is concerned, was brought to a close. The gates to the Tiger stronghold were thrown ajar in the late afternoon and the largest band of students seen at practice this fall passed to the side lines.

The occasion of the celebration was to pay homage to the departing Tigers on their trip to the Georgia capital. The huge student assemblage, led by Red Roberts, varsity cheer leader and Woman Dies of Burns. Rome, Ga., November 24.—(Special).—Mrs. Mary Vinnie Morrow, 72, who was burned yesterday morning when her clothing ignited as she was hanging a picture in front of the fire, died at Frances-Berrien hospital late Monday night.

From the first little hope was held out for her, although she was conscious for hours and talked freely of her accident. Her son, George, was badly burned in an attempt to extinguish the flames that enveloped his mother.

Mrs. Morrow had been a lifelong resident of Rome, and was a member of the Baptist church. She is survived by seven children, and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 10:30 o'clock from the residence. Dr. J. E. Sammons, pastor of the First Baptist church, will conduct the services.

OFFICERS OF 122D WILL MEET TODAY AT ANSLEY HOTEL

Preparations were made Tuesday by 35 officers of the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, for the luncheon meeting today at 12:30 o'clock in the rainbow room of the Ansley hotel.

Colonel Charles H. Cox will preside and short talks will be heard by officers on various subjects of interest to guardsmen.

Last week's meeting was featured by a talk by Major General Johnson Hagood, fourth corps area commander, and it is expected that during the fall and winter other high officers of the corps area headquarters and Fort McPherson will be invited to speak to guard officers.

the famous Tiger band, had gathered on the historic playground on the last practice day to express good wishes to the Tiger gridgliders as the final preparation was brought to a close.

New Ceremony. A ceremony new on the Plains was inaugurated in the late afternoon. The tackling dummy which has had many hard knocks was burned, as the hundreds of Auburn students joined in the Alma Mater song that echoed through the night air to the neighboring hills.

The burning of the dummy symbolized the close of the work of the present season. It meant that the Orange and Blue Tiger is done, as far as preparation goes. It meant that the Tiger is ready for the conflict with the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech. Short addresses marked the closing exercises. Captain Harkins, Coaches Pitts, Papke and Morey were among those who spoke. Coach Morey paid a high tribute to the Auburn eleven, and especially to the eight regulars who are finishing their football careers at Auburn. The eight varsity regulars who have appeared in most of the games this year and who are playing their allotted conference time at Auburn include: Ollinger and Spinks, at end; Captain Harkins, McFadden and Self, on the line, and three halfbacks—Williams, Crane and Green.

The practice Tuesday afternoon was full of spirit and pep. While there was no rough work and no touchdowns or long runs or dazzling forward passes, the whole squad was "rearing" to go and it was a grand finish, no matter what the outcome of Thursday's conflict may be.

Tigers Are Prepared. Everything is in readiness for the referee's whistle. Eight full-sized practice sessions have been held since the Vanderbilt game. Not a minute has been lost to make ready for the finale. Drilled and drilled hard on defense, the Orange and Blue will take the field Thursday confident that they can at least "hustle" Captain Wycoff in his plunges into the line and off-tackle smashes.

These same Tigers are hopeful of thwarting Carter Barron on his flanks around end and they also believe they can hinder Ivan Williams in his expert manner of coining the three pointers from place to place. The hundreds of Tiger followers that will gather in the Grant field stadium are clinging to the fond hope that it will be either Green, Williams, Turner or Hodges that will grab off an opportunity to carry the Orange and Blue standards of Auburn behind the Tech goal posts.

Practically the same lineup that faced the Vandy Commodores will take up arms against Tech. On the ends it will be Ollinger and Spinks; at tackle, Captain Harkins and Self; at guard, McFadden and Long or Satter; at center, McNeil; at quarter, Hodges; at halves, Green and Williams, and at fullback, Turner.

BULLDOGS DESERT SANFORD FIELD FOR SEASON

Depart for Birmingham For 'Bama Game, In Which Eight Stars Say Good-Bye

BY MARCUS BRYANT.

Athens, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—Tuesday afternoon the Georgia Bulldogs held their final workout of the year on Sanford field and entrained following the workout for Birmingham and the final game of the season with Alabama Thanksgiving day.

Monday the Bulldogs swung into their final lap of practice with a long and hard scrimmage. Following the rest of last Saturday, they scamped over Sanford field with enthusiasm high. Today found the Georgians in the same program as observed on Monday and then some 35 players packed their grid togs for the last invasion of the season.

Six Bulldogs are on the injured list and include "Buster" Kilpatrick, Tom Nelson, Willie Hatcher, Howell Holts, Gene Smith and Jim Carmichael. It is barely possible that Hatcher or Carmichael will be ready and the condition of the remainder of the list is doubtful. Kilpatrick's injury is improved slightly but his chances are slight. Holts attended his first practice since the Tech game Monday and though he could not participate in any of the heavy work, may round into shape for the game. Nelson also should be ready by Thursday, though his injury is slow to come through.

Gene Smith, a guard, has been absent for the past several scrimmages and though chances are that he might play, they are not bright in any respect. His injury received in the Tech game was thought to be light at first, but has turned for the worse. The Bulldogs lose eight men in the Alabama game and this roster includes Captain "Snack" Thompson, "Buster" Kilpatrick, half back; Jake Butler, center; Tom Nelson, halfback; "Scrappy" Moore, quarterback; "Blackshear" Smith, center; Jim Carmichael, tackle, and Morris Levis, end.

Believed to have reached a peak as far as "edge" is concerned in the Tech game, an almost inevitable relapse will follow against the Crimson Tide. Against this the Bulldogs' mentors are working and the team is at a rather good morale as the lowering of the 1925 season is near at hand.

S.I.A.A. CROWN ASPIRANTS CONFUSED

New Orleans, November 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mercer's Bears, by defeating the Petrels of Oglethorpe Saturday, threw the race for a mythical championship of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association into a scrambled condition from which it may not be extricated.

At the time of the defeat by Mercer, Oglethorpe was apparently well on the way to the top rung of the ladder. Victories had been scored over Howard, Center, Wofford, Citadel and Presbyterian College of South Carolina. And then Mercer came along.

Mercer added the Oglethorpe victory to successes previously scored over Rollins and Furman, but was forced to reflect sadly over defeats at the hands of Chattanooga and Citadel.

Chattanooga will be Oglethorpe's Thanksgiving opponent, but it lost to Howard and Birmingham-Southern. Howard won from Chattanooga, Mississippi college and Birmingham-Southern and was defeated by Oglethorpe and Millsaps. The Millsaps Majors having been defeated by Birmingham-Southern.

If the mythical title is to be decided on a percentage basis Oglethorpe will be able to make the most impressive showing, but the custom has been to get championship rating by winning all the games played in the organization. This season no such claim can be put forward by any S. I. A. A. team. All have had their ups and downs.

Valuable Men of Tech and Auburn

OSCAR MELLILO ANNUAL HUNT IS ACTIVE STAR TO BE HELD THURSDAY

BY IRWIN M. HOWE.

Oscar Mellilo is a man who takes the "chances" as they come. That is why the Milwaukee American association player hung up a new record this season at second base. Napolean Lajoie was a busy individual in 1908, accepting 988 chances while playing for the Cleveland team in the American league. Mellilo went him 78 better, putting the record of 1,066 in the books, and he only played in 132 games.

Taking a squint at what he did it is evident that no better second base was ever seen in the American association. So far as the artistic performances were concerned, it is a question whether they have been surpassed in any league, and yet Mellilo is still in the minors. His lack of real slugging may be the answer, although his mark of .294 is not so poor.

Picking the high spots in his playing, the records show that Oscar took part in 132 double plays. He started 40 of these, which gives some evidence of his fielding skill. This can also be deduced from the fact that he made only 30 errors. At one time during the season he accepted 132 chances without a boggle of any kind, these coming in 23 consecutive games. That he was on the job at the key-stone sack can easily be figured when the 50 is subtracted from the 132, which leaves 82 plays in which he handled the ball on throws.

The climax in his fielding came on September 5 shortly before he went out of the game, when he handled 13 chances without an error. He pulled them off during the summer. He had 10 assists in one game and he had nine twice. He ran up eight five times and he capped his total by having 13 accepted chances five times during the season.

In the 23 games in which he never failed to get the ball, fielded or returned, the chances were almost equally divided between putouts and assists, the latter totaling 74, just about three to a game.

Analyzing his double-play record it is shown that on May 23 he took part in four double plays and he repeated the performance on September 5. This star second-sacker perhaps was not the most feared batter in the league, but he was respected. Several pitchers discovered that he was a dangerous man in the pinches, which is the essence of hitting. Thus on three different occasions he hit safely four times in that many times at bat.

He could also hit hard on occasion. He wound up with 27 doubles, six triples and 13 home runs to his credit. His speed was indicated by 16 stolen bases.

Northwestern Concedes Crown

Detroit, November 24.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence Cook Little, president of the University of Michigan today accepted as a "splendid example of the spirit of fine sportsmanship and honest statement of opinion," a telegram from representatives of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., conceding to Michigan the 1925 football championship in the western conference.

JACKET TEAM IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Georgia Tech football squad were guests at noon Tuesday of the Atlanta Rotary club at the annual football luncheon of the club at the Capital City club.

All members of the squad were there. Few speeches were made after the luncheon. The feature of the affair was the presentation of each player with a bagful of gifts after the order of Christmas stockings. The luncheon is the first affair at which the Tech football players have been guests in Atlanta this fall.

Publicity and Fame Failed To Change Grid Marvel

Following is the thirteenth article of a series that tells the story of the life of Captain Red Grange, of Illinois, acclaimed as the greatest grid-iron runner in the world. It is written from interviews with Grange by James Braden, and is Grange's life story.

BY JAMES BRADEN.

Former Yale and All-American Fullback.

"This is my real story. I have authorized it for publication."—Herald Grange.

(Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

VIII. BACK TO THE ICE BUSINESS. Most of the all-American selections of 1923 had the Illinois sophomore placed in the backfield of the first team. Old wisecracks of the game usually make pessimistic predictions when a man makes the all-American team during his first year on the varsity. The attendant spotlight of publicity is supposed to affect the mental processes of the recipient. No such thing happened to Red Grange, for he had been through some of the hard part of life before college was entered and realized that all this was pleasant but transitory.

He became so popular at his university that when he essayed to see if there was any interest left in him for that part of the extra curriculum which Zuppke calls "swing pushing," a near riot broke out on sorority row. Popular With Co-Eds.

The specter of the gridiron who could elude the most intent and intense tacklers was not so good at stepping around the subtleties of the young women of the University of Illinois. When it was definitely announced that a sorority house that the famous Red was to make a call on one of the girls, there were four attendants at the door and in the hall to receive him. One took his hat, another his coat; two stood by to show him the drawing room and call the lucky "date." For some unknown reason his girl did not show up on the moment and about every girl in the house suddenly remembered some lost article in the downstairs hall or in the drawing room.

All this unsettled Red, that feeling of embarrassment which had been missing on the football field caused him almost to knock over the furniture and do everything else except take a tumble on the rug. Along sorority row, he forced the other fellow to go in and bring his "date" outside for an evening at the movies. That wasn't so bad, but after a few attempts to prepare for his fraternity's big dance Red recoiled from active competition along those lines.

"I love to sit around with a bunch of fellows and talk," said Red in one of his unguarded moments. His actions bear out the truth of that. After the games he usually slipped away with some of his close friends for peace and quiet. During the spring of his sophomore year Grange went out for the baseball team and played center field. He had not attempted his former favorite sport, basketball, in the winter because he needed time to study and make up what he had lost in the football season. That summer he was back on the ice wagon in Wheaton. Many boys would have taken a rest after such a strenuous year. Red had no thought of resting. One reason was that he needed the money from his summer work to help pay his expenses at Illinois the following college year. Another reason was that the ice business had proved to be a great conditioner for him. It was outdoor work. It wasn't unpleasant and it gave him an opportunity to be at home evenings with his father and brother.

There was much written about Red Grange that college year and in the summer—sufficient to fill a thick scrap book such as all athletes are supposed to keep. Grange did not keep a scrapbook, nor has he one now. Some of his friends have, however. (Tomorrow: Melodrama of Touch-downs.)

AUBURN MEN TO GATHER TONIGHT

Atlanta alumni of Auburn will gather at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore hotel for their annual rally and meeting on the eve of the classic Tech-Auburn football game Thanksgiving day.

Announcement of the meeting and dinner has been sent to Atlanta alumni by F. R. Yarbrough, president of the Atlanta Auburn Alumni association.

The meeting will be much in the nature of a rally, with remarks by a few of the older members of the association, reviewing athletic events at Auburn in the days of their college careers.

One of the prominent figures at these Auburn alumni meetings in Atlanta is "Dick" Tichenor, graduate of Auburn, and dean of football officials in the south.

Methodist annual road race to be held at Emory.

The cross-country race will begin at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Emory's team, composed of Alton Crowe, captain; David Weems, Tom Ventulett, Ellis Mann and E. P. Jalouk, has been under the expert grooming of Captain T. S. Arms since the opening of school and during the time, Coach Arms has put them through a series of bare and bound races in order to whip them in shape.

FLORIDA GRID SUB-DIVIDED, BOYS' HIGH SEEKS OPPONENT

DUVALL UNABLE TO FURNISH FIELD

By BEN COTHRAN. In all probability the game between Boys' High and Duvall High school, of Jacksonville, which was scheduled for Thanksgiving day, will not be played, according to officials at Boys' High school, who stated Tuesday morning that a telegram had been received from the faculty athletic chairman of Duvall stating that a game could not be played on Friday of this week as requested by Boys' High.

Mr. Rosser, athletic director at Boys' High, said Tuesday morning that if a suitable date could not be arranged that the game would not be played. Monday the director at Duvall wired Boys' High that the game could not be played on Thanksgiving, as Florida and Washington and Lee played their annual game on that date. It was thought that Duvall would have possession of the field, but in the ensuing argument it was given to Florida, naturally.

Duvall then wished to play the game on Saturday. However, the annual city grid classic between Boys' High and Tech High will take place on Tuesday, and a game in Jacksonville on Saturday would push the team too hard. Duvall gave as its reason for not wanting to play on Saturday that it would not be able to get the crowd that it would otherwise. In the reply to Monday's telegram, Boys' High stated that a game might possibly be arranged for Saturday.

Miss Geraghty Smacks More Marks Than Nurmi

For the second year a woman athlete leads American in record achievement, and for the second year swimming has produced the greatest number of marks. Last year Miss Sybil Bauer, swimming star of the Illinois Athletic club, showed the way in record accomplishment with a total of 21 marks. Miss Agnes Geraghty, Women's Swimming association, second last year, succeeded in making the A. A. U. competition for the year, with 32 marks. Paavo Nurmi stands second with 29 records.

Satisfied Prosperous LABOR

Facts about ATLANTA

The payrolls of Atlanta amount weekly to more than three million dollars. These pay checks go into the hands of men and women who believe in Atlanta, who are happy in the up-building of Atlanta, and who expect to live and die in Atlanta. Because of the spirit of cooperation between Capital and Labor in Atlanta, steady progress in the development of the city is possible. Building permits in Atlanta mounted from $11,236,776 in 1921 to $18,196,091 in 1924, and this amount will be considerably exceeded by the record in 1925.

Atlanta leads the Southern cities in the ratio of home owners—a sure sign of the stability of the working classes. There were 59,136 homes in Atlanta in 1924. Of this number more than 30,000 are owned by those who occupy them.

There are 80,000 white men living in Atlanta. There are 84,168 white women living in Atlanta. There are 34,704 negro men and 40,440 negro women living in Atlanta. The total foreign-born population of Atlanta is 5,747. This explains the readiness in which Atlanta working men can cooperate. There is not here the mixture of blood and of purpose which the foreign population brings to the larger communities.

Atlanta spends $45 on each child every year to guarantee its public school education. The city maintains a park and playground system covering one thousand acres, where the children of all her people may get fresh air and recreation.

Atlanta provides every inducement to keep content the army of people who through the working hours earn their living by manual labor. Atlanta believes in the rights of the people who wear overalls as well as those who wear stiff collars. The common ties of mutual cooperation are daily bringing Capital and Labor closer together in Atlanta, and guaranteeing for the future a city where all men work for the common good.

ATLANTA has been built by men of rugged energy. Atlanta has come to possess a personality among her sister cities—a personality reflecting the vision of its great army of working men and women. Their restless striving for daily advance in the achievement of their goal has resulted in banishing from Atlanta any thought of conflicts between employer and employees. The men who have built, and are daily building Atlanta, whether they wear overalls or sit behind desks, are working together for the greatest good of the largest number of people.

Labor in Atlanta is represented by men of Anglo-Saxon blood, men who were reared either in the city or in the great rural communities of Georgia. They belong to the finest traditions of the South. They love their fellowmen. They strive for the high goals which prompted our forbears to plan here a city which should be the Gateway of the New South.

A community spirit pervades the pulsing life of Atlanta. This spirit begets the sense of contentment which distinguishes the wage earners of Atlanta as men who love their city. Full knowledge of the spirit of cooperation which exists between employer and employee has developed in the minds of Atlanta's working classes a confidence in the future which is today one of the city's greatest assets. No great corporation contemplating a business venture in Atlanta may fear for a moment the basic factor of labor conditions.

The natural consequence of this growing spirit of friendliness between Capital and Labor in Atlanta is responsible for the disappearance of strikes and in their place the tendency of wage earners to own their homes and make Atlanta their permanent dwelling place. The millions of dollars that go monthly into the payrolls of Atlanta are used not for factional fights, but for investments in homes, in education, in wholesome recreation and other constructive aspects of development.

INTEREST CENTERS IN MISS HODGSON'S DEBUT AND THANKSGIVING

Holiday Season and Debut Party At Piedmont Driving Club Are of Interest to Society

BY BEVERLY BURGESS.

All of Atlanta is astir to the wondrous spirit of the Thanksgiving season which will be ushered in bright and early tomorrow.

The clubs have taken on a holiday look in their added dress of palms and cut flowers, the hotels are bristling with an air of exceptional activity and brightness, the homes are ready with "feast of song," the frat houses have been swept out and tidied up a bit, and all is in readiness for this "day apart."

The fatted turkey—with all apologies to the calf of ancient tradition—has been slain, the out-of-town guests have arrived, the cars are all adequately decorated in Tech and Auburn colors, the school children are smacking their lips over the prospect of two days of holiday from their arduous labors, even Mr. von Herrmann is smiling benignly, and with the keenest anticipation, every one is awaiting the week-end of holiday festivities.

And here's to the very happiest possible holiday season for every one of you and with Gintery can we will sing:

"So, once in every year let's throng,

Upon a day apart,

To praise the Lord with feast and song,

In thankfulness of heart!"

Christmas, Magic Word.

And even before the Thanksgiving holidays are well under way, we find ourselves catapulted into a multitude of riotous thoughts and plans centering around Christmas.

What a short step from November 28th to December 25th!

Even now to secure a date at any of the clubs is entirely out of the question. For the Christmas season, much of the brightness and gaiety will be focused around the two charming daughters of the Fred Hodgsons, Jennie, as you know, is spending the winter at home, while Martha is at Mr. Holyoke at present, arriving in Atlanta in time for the holiday season.

On Friday, day after tomorrow, at the Driving club, Mrs. Hodgson will

West End Study Class To Meet.

The West End Study class will meet Wednesday, November 25, at 10:45 o'clock at the Ponce de Leon apartments, tenth floor, Mrs. Hubert Culbertson, hostess.

The paper for the day will be presented by Mrs. R. M. Gann, her subject being "Principal Women Saints," this being a part of the general subject for the year.

A scene of a very delightful spend-the-day party last Wednesday. Estelle Pattillo Boynton, the charming and wonderfully capable chaperone of this "house set upon a hill," has the rare gift of creating, amidst luxury and surroundings of black and hogan, deep old rugs, walls strewn with rare books and glorious masterpieces, a cheery, homey atmosphere. This isn't found in every home of this type.

How bright and beautiful the world must look to the fortunate children of this home, who see it through windows of such happy settings!

In this charming home, on last Wednesday, Mrs. Boynton entertained the 20 members of her History class.

In addition to her beautiful hospitality and delightful seated luncheon, served in the double dining room, she was the inspiration for the "feast of reason and flow of soul," on this occasion, giving a most comprehensive talk on Persia.

Following was a detailed discussion of next year's plan of study. South America, Australia, Africa, the Jewish Race and contemporary European history each had its warm devotees. The question, however, was tabled until the meeting next Wednesday with Mrs. Mike Hook, who tentatively programs of the countries under discussion, will be reviewed. This day spent in this Habersham road home will not soon fade from the memory of the 1908 History class.

Fear Mandatory Reports May Cut $300,000 Revenue From Tobacco Tax Sales

Commissioner Sees Loss of Free Services of Banks in Collecting Fees
Because of Law.

Fear that the annual revenue from the state cigar and cigarette stamp act would be reduced by 50 per cent after January 1, was expressed Tuesday by John M. Vandiver, commissioner of revenue. Commissioner Vandiver pointed out, to reimburse anyone for handling the sales of the cigar and cigarette revenue stamps in the cities outside of Atlanta. Hitherto, the department has succeeded in persuading banks in the various towns and cities to sell the stamps. The banks have done this, Commissioner Vandiver claims, out of patriotic motives, but he says that if they are put to the added trouble of making monthly reports on their sales, many of them will refuse to handle the stamps any longer.

At present there are 338 banks in the state handling the stamps, and in the larger cities it has required the entire services of a special clerk at some of the banks, Commissioner Vandiver asserts.

The state is now receiving about $750,000 annually from the stamp sales, the revenue being used to meet past due pensions of the pensioners. Only this week, $400,000 of this money was disbursed among the 10,000 pensioners on the rolls, giving each one $40 in pension for Thanksgiving.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the revenue drop off $300,000 when the monthly report system becomes mandatory on January 1," said Mr. Vandiver.

On the other hand, it is claimed by some state officials, the banks are chiefly actuated in handling these stamp sales in order that they may keep the money on deposit, without paying any interest, until such time as it is checked out by the revenue department.

Commissioner Vandiver indicated that he would ask the attorney general for an opinion on the appropriation proviso between now and January 1, to see if it was absolutely mandatory that each bank report and remit its collections each month.

He is survived by a widow, one daughter, Miss Esther Newman; and two brothers, Sigmond and Jacob Newman, both of New York city.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Greenberg & Bond, Rabbi A. P. Hermer will officiate with interment in Crestlawn cemetery. Masons will have charge of the services at the grave.

NEW 4-STORY GARAGE PLANNED FOR ATLANTA

Plans for erection of a four-story, modern, fireproof "ramp" garage on the west side of Forsyth street between Hunter and Alabama will be considered at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at an executive session of interested business men under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Improvement association.

Details of the proposed garage are as yet of a tentative nature, but the conference this afternoon is expected to mature the plans to the extent that sketches will be prepared by an architect and bids invited. The proposed cost of the improvement is estimated at approximately $175,000.

Plans for the new garage are for a structure of the same type as the Ivy street garage, with winding driveway so that automobiles can be driven from the bottom to the top without the need of an elevator, although there will be elevators for convenience of passengers.

Members of the Atlanta Improvement association are invited to attend the conference and discuss the details with business men who have advanced the project. George H. Berton, president of the improvement association, will preside at the session.

MAYOR IS READY TO GET MODIFIED VIADUCTS PLANS

Mayor Walter A. Sims was prepared Tuesday to call his viaduct commission into session at any time he received modified plans for the twin viaducts over the railroad tracks at Pryor street and at Central avenue, which are now being drawn by W. R. Schulz, consulting engineer, in his Memphis office, he said.

There will be no radical changes in the modified plans as agreed upon by the several engineers after the conference of the committee with railroad officials last week, it is said.

"The only changes will be those necessitated by the decision to eliminate that part of the original plan requiring the railroad tracks to be lowered six feet. These are chiefly engineering problems, and they are being worked out by Mr. Schulz, who left Atlanta last week," Mayor Sims declared.

As a consequence of the decision to eliminate the plan to lower the railroad tracks, it may be necessary to extend the northern terminus of the two viaducts a little north of Decatur street and the southern terminus a little south of Mitchell street, it was stated. Just the exact points will be determined after it is ascertained how greater a distance will be necessary to eliminate a steep grade, he said.

A unique and surprising feature of the meeting of the Fourth National Bank club, in the bank building at Five Points, Tuesday evening, was the solemnization of the wedding of Miss Grace Hardman and Audrey Pelot. Mr. Pelot, who is one of the most popular members of the club, and his charming bride had planned their marriage for Tuesday, but it was to take place elsewhere, and their last moment switching of the scene to the bank building at the conclusion of the program; was a complete surprise to everyone except a few intimate friends.

Mrs. Joe Long was matron of honor, while Mr. Long acted as best man. Dr. W. H. Major performed the ceremony.

The regular program, which followed a plate supper in the bank lobby, included an address by George M. Napier, attorney general of the state; an exhibition in magic by Allan C. Gottschalk; and J. Edgar Hunt, Jr., both of whom are members of the Atlanta Society of Magicians; and musical numbers by several young men from Emory university. Virgil Hooks rendered several piano selections and Chess Lagomarsino, Jr., appeared in an entertaining song skit, and the Harmonies Four, composed of William Woodruff, John Lovejoy, Walton Bobo and Norman Hatcher, and conducted by William Kicker, furnished a highly original and enjoyable act.

2 MUTES DROWN IN BISCAYNE BAY

Miami, Fla., November 24.—(AP)—Two deaf and dumb men were drowned and another mute saved after a long swim in a fishing tragedy in Biscayne bay early this morning.

The drowned men are Carl Henderson, of Charleston, S. C., and Fred Hall, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., whose names were written on a scrap of paper about 1 o'clock this morning by Curtis Davidson in the local Y. M. C. A.

Davidson, himself, a mute, his clothes dripping with water as he wrote, he gave first details of the tragedy, as he scrambled ashore.

"Tell the police to find my two deaf friends. They were drowned. I was saved." Subsequent notes written by Davidson stated that the party of three had gone fishing yesterday, in a small boat which had capsized about a mile from shore and threw miles south of Miami about dark. He wrote that he had swum the distance to shore and walked the remaining distance to the city.

Surrounded by "Y" officials and local detectives, Davidson, shivering from exposure and hysterical, penned his fearful story. He wrote that he came to the Association building because he had been attending a class for deaf-mutes there weekly. He revealed the fact that he and his friends were carpenters at Coral Gables, and that he had come here from Birmingham, Ala., recently.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Founding of New Netherland. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN 1618 THE DUTCH RETURNED TO THE HUDSON RIVER, EXPLORED THE REGION AND GAVE IT THE NAME OF NEW NETHERLAND.

THEY WERE ATTRACTED BY THE PROSPECT OF TRADING FOR FURS WITH THE INDIANS. IN SEARCH OF FURS THEY WENT UP THE RIVER AS FAR AS ALBANY, WHERE THEY BUILT A STRONG FORT.

A TRADING POST SPANG UP ON MANHATTAN ISLAND, AT THE MOUTH OF THE RIVER, WHICH WAS YEARS LATER TO BECOME THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

SOON THE DUTCH WEST INDIA COMPANY WAS FORMED IN HOLLAND AND IN 1623 THE FIRST COMPANY OF COLONISTS, NUMBERING THIRTY FAMILIES, CAME OVER WITH CORNELIUS MAY AS THEIR FIRST GOVERNOR.

LATER, MAY WAS REPLACED BY PETER MINUIT (1626) WHO PURCHASED THE ENTIRE ISLAND OF MANHATTAN FROM THE INDIANS FOR TWENTY-FOUR DOLLARS WORTH OF BEADS, TRINKETS AND KNIVES.

A JOKE UPON A CRUEL TITAN.

The Greeks of ancient times told many stories about powerful gods and beautiful goddesses. They believed that most of these beings made their homes upon Mount Olympus, in the far north of Greece. Chief of the gods was Zeus, and he was said to hurl thunderbolts.

If you had asked an old Greek how Zeus had gained his power, he would have had this story to tell: "In the beginning, all things were mixed up. There was no ocean, there was no land. Earth, fire, air and water were in one great mass, and the shape was always changing. "Then a wonderful thing happened. Earth, fire, air and water were divided. Air and fire rose, and the sky was formed. The water sank, and made an ocean in which the earth could float. "The sky was a god, and the earth was a goddess. Among their children were huge beings known as Titans. One of these was named Cronus. In a battle with his own father, Cronus won the victory and became the ruler of all things. As he grew older, he showed that he was a very poor ruler. "The wife of Cronus was known as Rhea. She became the mother of five children. The old Titan feared that his children might want to take his power away, so he swallowed them one after the other.

"When the sixth child came to poor Rhea, she feared that he, too, would be taken from her. Before Cronus could do harm to the little one—whom she named Zeus—she decided to play a trick on the wicked old Titan. Taking the clothing from her infant, she wrapped it around a stone.

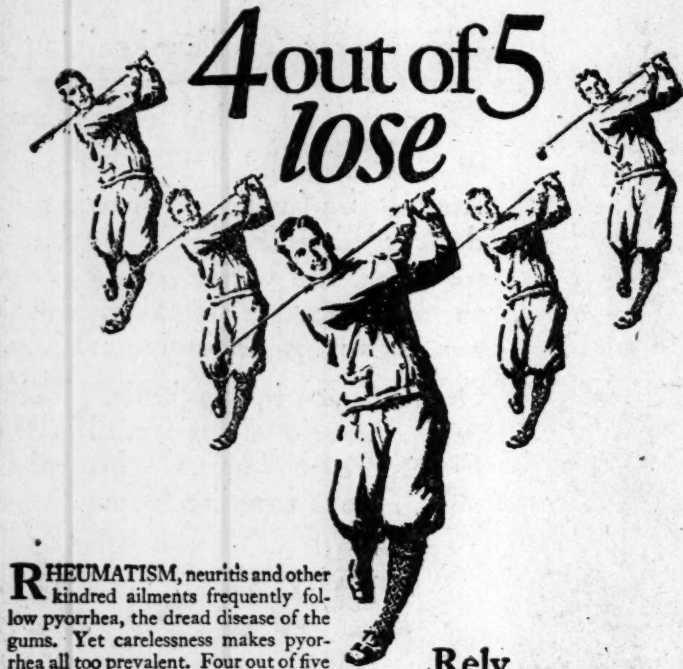

Little Zeus was hidden in a dark cave. Then she gave the bundle to Cronus, saying: 'Now you can swallow your sixth child!' "Cronus did not notice the differ-

EYEGLASSES.

Many girls write and ask me what sort of eyeglasses to wear; any kind are a nuisance, but a nuisance they must put up with. The only thing I can suggest is that they try on eyeglasses as they try on hats to see which type suits them best. Indeed, as glasses are worn constantly, they should be tried on with much more care than any hat receives.

The very dark girl will not look well with thick, black rimmed glasses, her face is already dark enough without adding two large black circles and a bridge piece. Brimless glasses, or if these seem "old maidish" blonde tortoise shell, or amber color shell, will suit her.

The pallid girl will look best with dark tortoise shell, and with a fairly large glass, these emphasize the eyes. Many girls are improved by wearing glasses, so take heart, perhaps you will be one of them. The blonde girl to whom every type of eyeglass is becoming, will look best with very pale yellow shell rims, these are less conspicuous.

Now, of course, tortoise shell rims have supplanted gold and the rimless glasses for younger women and for many older ones. Personally, I think them much more becoming perhaps because we've associated gold or steel rimmed eyeglasses with age so long, and the tortoise shell kind have been affected by college girls and by literary people too.

You have one great consolation, if you must wear glasses: your eyes will improve so that your whole face must look better and younger. Weak, strained eyes are not pretty, they are bound to make the expression of the face strained and old looking. Besides, so many people wear glasses now that the old feeling about them is going.

Bessie G. H.—White spots on the nails are small deposits of lime, usually caused by imperfect circulation. You can bleach them off by applying a saline made by mixing together pitch and myrrh in equal parts. Apply at night before retiring and cover finger tips with stalls from the fingers of old kid gloves to protect the bed linen.

Eye glasses can be attractive.

Jonathan F. D.—Try wearing a soft felt hat instead of the stiff derby and see if it does not help along with the massage in improving the health of your scalp.

UPSHAW BACK HOME AFTER LENGTHY TOUR

Congressman William D. Upshaw has just completed what he calls his "most successful lecture tour," which carried him to all parts of the north-west, and has returned to Atlanta enthusiastic over the tour and especially the opportunity to tell of the greatness of the south and Atlanta, he said.

The high point of the tour were his addresses to more than 11,000 high school students in Chicago. He also spoke at the dedication of the Moody church in Chicago, and talked to students at Moody Bible institute.

"Of course I told those 11,000 students that Atlanta, my home city, was 'The Chicago of the Southeast,' while they had the honor of living in the 'Atlanta of the Northwest,' he said.

"While I have been in Washington several times on official business since I left Atlanta, my special excursions into Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania have given me the widest opportunity for patriotic service and advertising Atlanta that I have known since I have been on the platform.

"It is refreshing to a citizen who sold his papers on Atlanta's streets in his school boy days and who has watched this great city's growth for more than four decades with indescribable pride to see how widely and well this wonderful metropolis of the southeast is known and admired.

"Everywhere I found the keenest interest in the progress and completion of the Stone Mountain Memorial."

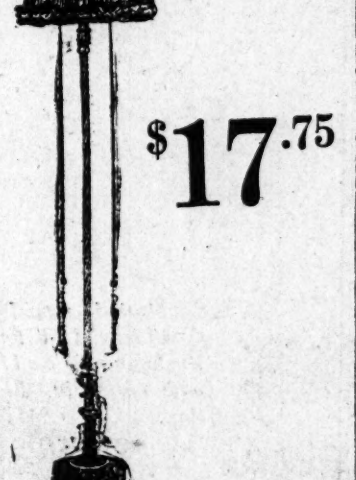

Congressman Upshaw will give several lectures in Atlanta this week. He will speak Thursday night at Carter's Baptist Tabernacle at a Thanksgiving service. He will give the closing lecture of a lyceum course next Friday night at the Inman Park Methodist church, when he speaks on "Country Folks in Town." Congressman and Mrs. Upshaw will on certain rural carriers of the Fifth congressional district at a Thanksgiving luncheon at their home here Thursday.

JOANNA

BY H. L. GATES

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.

It was generally wished that the young American, whose fresh youth had proved an irresistible charm where charm is translated in terms of flesh, would succumb to the inevitable—or, to Roddy's determinations—and in the usual course, free him for his next feminine engagement. "For," said one young woman to her dancing partner at the fashionable Embassy club, "Roddy looks as though he were going to be serious, this time; he hasn't had a serious affair since the early days of Yvonne Coutant. He won't be a free agent until he gets over this attack, and the American is delaying matters."

Joanna liked Roddy Kenilworth. She had heard, as people do hear, that Yvonne had been of his making. How much to believe and what to discount she didn't know, nor care. She gloried in her ability, she who had come out from behind the silk counter, to bring the green tints into his eyes whenever she was of the whim to make him take note of her. She knew Roddy was in a continual fight with himself over her. Dorminster was always her slave. Brandon served her whenever she asked, but he remained aloof; she couldn't sway him—or, rather, she wouldn't dare. But Roddy made an occasional effort to baffle the spell of her, and to thwart him was like quaffing champagne.

But, just now, with Prince Michael's sudden surrender to her creating a new undertone, and with the coming of John to irritate him, she was restless beneath Kenilworth's intent appraisals. And she didn't want to be cross-examined about John. She hoped she was concealing from Roddy the constant searching of her eyes along the vistas of the Terrace and into the Casino square which fronts the crowded tables of the Cafe de Paris, for a familiar figure.

In the atrium, the red and gold hung foyers of the casino, Yvonne and Michael were awaiting them.

"The rooms are crowded," Yvonne observed. "I've decided to hunt a place at the roulette tables."

Around each of the tables were crowds four or five deep—the late afternoon company of curious visitors to the world's gayest shrine of sin, tourists, coquettes seeking monsieurs for the evening, and old women hangers-on holding chairs with the hope of selling them to after-dinner habitués. All of these last, the old women of the gambling rooms, knew each one of the party that crossed the wide polished floor of the splendidly decorated rooms and glanced about for places. Croupiers, too, gave little signs to each other at the entrance of the sleek Yvonne and the lovely young American. Both had been the heroines of sensational plays that had become casino legends. Yvonne dropped into a chair Michael brought from an old hag for a fifty franc note. Kenilworth guided Joanna to another and won a courtesy from the ancient dame who surrendered it by the size of his tip. Joanna plunged immediately into her play, Kenilworth standing close behind her.

When Joanna gambled she lost herself entirely. The color came into her cheeks as the rouge et noir, the red and black, divided its favors. Others played with gold louis, or ten franc notes, counting their plaques nervously after each turn of the wheel. Joanna tossed thousand franc notes onto her colors or numbers or columns with feverish excitement. When she lost, the croupier's wooden rake drew her stake away from her, she made pretty grimaces. When she won, and the rake pushed toward her fingers its pile of gold and silver notes, she clapped her hands and turned to smile up at the man who stood over her. On this afternoon she made her first plays listlessly, as if her enthusiasm had been left with the hats of the men in the atrium; but with one or two winnings she had forgotten every thing, seemingly, but the cry of the croupiers and the spinning of the wheel.

Brandon, strolling through the rooms as was his daily afternoon custom, came upon them. He pushed his way among the spectators who always gathered about the Golden Girl when rumor spread through the rooms that she was playing, and stood with Kenilworth. Joanna, conscious of his presence, lifted her ungloved fingers over her shoulder for him to touch them. Kenilworth observed to the newcomer: "She's in a reckless mood. But she's winning."

As a rule the casino rooms clear with the first pallor of twilight. Only the inveterate gamblers remain through the quiet hours when tourists hunt their ten franc table notes and the members of the fashionable company disappear for dressing and their more interesting dinner rendezvous. Yvonne could keep a crowd about her, however, and so could Joanna. Three times in succession Joanna lost the maximum, fifteen thousand francs. Then she won a sweep of the columns twice. By now she was playing only the limit—fifteen thousand francs at each play. And across her shoulder, at her insistence, Roddy reached down at every play to touch with his fingers an added play of six thousand francs which theoretically registered him as a player and the extra maximum as his own gamble. By this subterfuge the Golden Girl was avoiding the rules and staking, on every turn of the wheel, double the maximum. Brandon and Kenilworth exchanged glances. A chef de partie, the official who supervises each table for the casino administration, quietly took a stand beside the croupier. Mademoiselle had won a quarter of a million francs in an hour of play. And seemed to be unwearied. The official gave a hidden sign. Attendants in the quiet uniform of the casino silently rolled up a square box set upon wheels. Out of the box they lifted cases of money which they put in the receptacles at the croupier's hand. Once, in just such a mood as she evinced now, Mademoiselle Joanna had broken the bank. When she played the double maximum for an hour and had a winning streak, the chef de partie provided early for emergency.

Prince Michael and Yvonne after a time of desultory playing left their chairs and moved over to stand with Brandon and Kenilworth behind the girl at the table. Joanna felt their presence and called over her shoulder to Michael:

"You've got lots of pockets. Please empty my lap of money. My bag is filled and I can't take care of it all. And you can play with me as Roddy's doing."

It is so clearly against the rules for a player to go beyond the maximum play that the croupier, worried already by the obvious trick of Kenilworth's merely touching the second 15,000 francs in the girl's stakes, glanced sidewise at the chef de partie for his approval of this added evasion. Joanna caught the glance and treated the aged chef de partie with a warm smile that captivated him. He bowed to the croupier and Prince Michael, having emptied the pile of notes and gold which Joanna had scraped into her lap into his various pockets and overflowing it into Kenilworth's, reached over her other shoulder to help make her play 45,000 francs at a time.

Yvonne, standing now edged against Brandon, suddenly felt his hand on her arm. When she looked up at him he signalled, with a look of presence in the room. She turned and glanced among the marble pillars along the corridors. She saw a figure already in dinner clothes standing idly between the columns where visitors loiter to take in the always thrilling scene about the roulette tables. The boy, for he was hardly more than a boy, although he had the air of one who had grown big in the midst of something that counted, appeared to be undecided whether to pass on, and out into the terrace, or turn into the Salle de Roulette and investigate the reason for the crowd that hovered, with tense faces, about the middle table. Yvonne, when she had taken in every detail of the figure in dinner clothes glanced at Brandon. He nodded at her quietly. She threaded her way out of the crush and crossed the chamber.

The young man between the columns had decided, evidently, to pass on. But as he was turning into the corridor his eyes caught the woman who was approaching him. He moved to meet her, a glad smile on his face. Her two hands reached out to him, impulsively. Awkwardly he took them both, and would have dropped them but they held onto his.

"We knew you had come," Yvonne said, "and so I am to be the first to tell you what wonderful things you have been doing and how happy we are! You are quite the same John Wilmore we left in New York! The 'we' was emphasized. John noticed that. It confused him. And the woman was still holding his hands.

"I did hope," he said, "that you wouldn't say I looked just the same. Every acquaintance I meet says that to me. I feel as if I were derelict in something; as if I ought to look different than I do."

"Now that's a very appropriate speech," Yvonne assured him. "It strikes home, because, frankly, I've been wondering since I read of your arrival, just how you'd look. Being famous does not change some people, you know."

He fumbled a little with his released hands. Yvonne sensed the question at his lips. "She is over there," she said, "playing. That crowd is her's. She came in an hour ago quite normal but the red and black always sweeps her out of herself. She's playing the maximum treble, and winning. We mustn't disturb her now."

They walked across the salle and up to the edge of the crowd that pressed against the girl in the gold chair who still played, win or lose three times the maximum, and whose plays still troubled the chef de partie because she continued to win. Brandon came out of the pack and greeted John affably.

WHOLESALE PERJURY CHARGED BY DARROW

Detroit, November 24.—(AP)—Accusations of wholesale perjury by state witnesses were made by Clarence Darrow in his address to the jury in the case of Osa Mae Brown, his wife and three other negroes on trial in connection with the slaying of Leon E. Breiner September 9.

"It is my conviction that every one of the state witnesses perjured him self time and time again in the case," he declared. "There was not an honest person in the whole bunch."

Much of the argument of the defense attorney was against race prejudice.

The attorney declared that if he had any thought of the jury had an opinion about the guilt of the defendants it would not worry him, but his prejudices did worry him, because "they are harder to change."

Lester Moll, assistant prosecuting attorney, opening for the prosecution, declared each of the defendants aided and abetted the other in the events leading up to the killing of Breiner, who was shot when several volleys were poured, police say, from a house where the defendant was occupying a white neighborhood.

The case is expected to go to the jury tomorrow.

New York, November 24.—Short selling for the purpose of bringing about more liquidation in the stock market was resumed today, but with less success than on the first time in weeks there were times today when the ticker remained motionless. In the recent long series of two million share days, when the ticker was far below trading on the floor and when the average price of 50 representative stocks was daily making a new high level, rumors of increased dividends and stock dividends, initial dividends and split ups were daily making their way to the bear in their efforts to further depress stock prices were setting off a number of rumors the truth of which was not known. The bear market, however, is not a new phenomenon. It is the result of the many increases which have occurred in the recent rates of the federal reserve banks together with the greatly over extended long account in the stock market has been seen.

Passion Play Coming.

Classics always present the standardized beauty in art, painting, sculpture and all of the better things. A classical in motion pictures, properly directed and arranged according to modern times, is a true representative of better films.

The best authorities say that it is what Dimitri Buchowitzki's motion picture of the "Passion Play and Life of Christ" is. It is the greatest story in the world, the oldest authentic story. The events in it are more emotionally thrilling than the events in any modern drama, and the object for which it was designed and for which it inspired, the noblest that could be conceived, namely, the great sacrifice of Jesus of Nazareth. Therefore, the Passion Play committee doesn't hesitate to say that the opening of the "Passion Play" picture on Monday next week, is one of the greatest events that has ever occurred in this city.

The Metropolitan.

The Metropolitan feature stage attraction in one of the largest ever offered by this playhouse. The original jazz orchestra of the great U. S. S. liner, the Leviathan, are there to give those jazz musical instruments—called back time and again for more by the audience. This is an entirely new and different type of musical production. Mail orders are now being received. The seat sale starts tomorrow.

Loew's Grand.

Bob Nelson, "the human dynamo," is keeping them laughing at Loew's Grand theater this week, where he is appearing in a most beautiful and romantic love story set to exquisite music, but also has a potent appeal for the student body. The early and later scenes of "The Student Prince" are laid at the University of Heidelberg, and the student corps arrives there is a mass singing of college songs and also the solos and duets of the principal characters. The work of the student corps is singing employed in a musical production. Mail orders are now being received. The seat sale starts tomorrow.

Keith's Forsyth.

Lester, marvelous ventriloquist, is appearing as the headlining feature of the vaudeville program at Keith's Forsyth theater the first three days of this week; and with his deep voice and dummy is providing an act highly entertaining. The program includes the act of Walter Newman, who is appearing in "The Student Prince."
